State Budget Cuts Seen As No Severe Problem To Andover

By Frank Messina

While other Massachusetts towns are moaning about Gov. Dukakis' recent veto of $91 million in state aid to municipalities, Andover's head financial officer has taken a decidedly different attitude.

As in, "no problem."

According to Anthony Torisi, town budget and finance director, Andover, scheduled to lose about $185,000, will be able to adjust to the budget cuts without affecting any existing programs.

"People reading the newspapers may think, 'My God, we're losing money,'" said Torisi. "Although it's true that money won't be coming into Andover, there won't be a single change from the budget town voters approved in April" at Town Meeting, he said.

That's because, first of all, the cuts will come off next year's town budget. But even then, Torisi feels the loss of state aid won't make a difference because his department doesn't regard state aid as income until the next year's budget process.

The situation, he said, is similar to a hypothetical scenario where the town heard about plans to build a hotel in Andover, but didn't assume the revenue from business taxes because the building hadn't been constructed yet.

Little League Heads For State

By Rick Harrison

The talented Andover National Major Little League All-Stars advanced to the four-team State Tournament in Billerica this weekend, winning four games over the past week to move among the Massachusetts elite for the second time in three years.

The spunky A-N kids did it all with their backs pressed firmly against the wall, climbing out of the District 14 loser's bracket and then winning a pair of Bi-District showdowns

Honored By Achievement Academy

Leslie Ross

The U.S. Achievement Academy announced recently that Leslie Ross has been named a national collegiate award-winner in campus leadership. The academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American college students.

Ross, who attends Tennessee Temple University, was nominated for the award by one of the university's deans and will appear in the academy's yearbook, published nationally.

The academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the standards of selection set forth by the academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a professor or director.

Ross is the daughter of Robert and Barbara Ross of Buxton Court.

Mayberry To Enter Columbia

Kevin B. Mayberry, 9 Blueberry Circle, Andover, will enter the School of Engineering and Applied Science at Columbia University this September.

Mayberry, a graduate of Andover High School, was chosen to join 250 members of the Class of 1992.

Ninety-five percent of the incoming students ranked in the top fifth of their high school class and more than half were in the top five percent, according to Edward DeCarbo Jr., dean of students at the engineering school.

William Leary, 4 Cardinal Lane, Andover, has enrolled in the cosmetology course at the Lowell campus of Blaine The Hair and Beauty Schools.

The Blaine program covers all facets of cosmetology, including haircutting, perming, makeup, nail and skin care, public relations and marketing.

Old Business Tops Planning Meeting

Old business will top the Planning Board agenda at their Aug. 9 meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the third floor conference room at Town Hall.

Laura Hill, town planner, will present an executive master plan report to the board members. The report is intended to help simplify and streamline the voluminous master plan in preparation for a public education program sponsored by the planning department on the town document that will begin this fall.

Also on the agenda is a site plan review for the New England Business Park's child care center, an item that was continued from the board's July 26 meeting.

Although a Zoning Board of Appeals hearing tonight will decide the center's ultimate fate, that group's decision will not be immediately available. The board will still vote on whether the site plan, about which the board expressed some environmental concerns on July 26, conforms to town standards.

Playgrounds To Compete At Cranes

Buses will leave Andover playground Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 8:30 a.m. for Cranes Beach where playgrounders will have an opportunity to compete in the annual Ipswich sand castle building contest. This field trip is sponsored by the Department of Community Services.

Children are encouraged to bring shovels, pails, molds or whatever tools necessary to build sand sculptures.

Designs are not limited to traditional castle building; project subjects may include cars, animals, personalities, comic strip characters, etc.

The contest will begin at 11:30 a.m. and continue until 1:30 p.m. Buses will return to the playgrounds at approximately 3 p.m. Children may bring bag lunches or purchase light refreshments from the beach refreshment stand. Money and permission slips should be returned to playground supervisors no later than Friday, Aug. 5. Late registration will be taken at the DCS office on a space-available basis.

Marching Band Rehearsals Scheduled

Marc Keroack, director of the Andover High School Marching Band, has announced the following schedule of rehearsals for August: Thursday, Aug. 1, color guard and percussion units; Tuesday, Aug. 16, entire band and color guard; Tuesday, Aug. 23, color guard; August 28-September 1 Band Camp in Ware.

Students should meet at the high school band room from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Any student interested in applying for positions in the band or color guard for the 1988 season should contact Keroack at the high school.

Zoning Board To Meet Tonight

The Zoning Board of Appeals will tackle a full agenda tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the School Committee room at Town Hall.

Variances for a proposed child care center in a business complex and for a new sign at the Marriott Hotel will be presented along with seven other petitions from businesses and residents.

Receives Masters

Donna C. Fabiani, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine J. Fabiani of Andover, received a Master of Public Affairs from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Her field of concentration is international development studies.

In Moscow

Signatories to the Protocol document from the USSR Chamber of Commerce and Industry authorizing a program of scientific and technical symposia with foreign companies take time out for the camera at their meeting in Moscow. Jozef Jaklovsky of Andover, center, president of International Marketing Services (IMS), is flanked by officials of V/O Vneshtorgreklama and the All-Union Scientific Research Institute on Normalization in Machine Building (VNIINMASH). IMS has served as principal liaison for Society-America Scientific Exchange, Inc., in organizing Instrument Marketing Opportunities in the USSR.

A former professor of metallurgy and industrial engineering in his native Czechoslovakia, Jaklovsky is fluent in Slovak-Czech, Russian, Polish and Yugoslavian, as well as English. Since becoming an American citizen, he has held important engineering, communications and marketing positions with companies such as Teledyne & McKay, Alcoa, Gould and duPont. His leadership of IMS, which he founded in 1986, has opened many new opportunities for a variety of American firms seeking to increase trade and win easier marketing access to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Appointed Campaign Coordinators

United States Senate candidate Joe Malone has announced that Joseph and Patricia Sciolla have agreed to serve as campaign coordinators representing Andover.

"In addition to recruiting, training and supervising volunteers, the Sciollas will act as my eyes and ears in Andover," said the 33-year-old Malone. "Active members of the community, they will undoubtedly provide valuable insight into local concerns."

The Sciollas, parents to three, said they are particularly pleased to be part of the Malone team. According to Patricia, "Joe represents the best of a new generation of civic leaders. He understands the needs and interests of working men and women like ourselves, who are trying to establish a home and rear families." Joseph said, "Joe Malone, will serve as an articulate spokesman for the people of the state of Massachusetts."

BACK TALK

by Dr. Thomas M. Sheehan
Chiropractor

How can you tell when a nerve is pinched? Although a pinched nerve can present itself with a variety of symptoms such as tingling, numbness, weakness, it may also mimic symptoms of other diseases. A pinched nerve is just what it sounds like. It is compression on a nerve that may be due to inflammation, vertebral misalignment, or muscle spasm. Whatever the reason, the result is the same - reduced nerve flow from the brain to the area fed by that nerve, causing impaired body function.

If you suspect a pinched nerve, the worst thing to do is wait for it to go away or be misled by a variety of symptoms mimicking other diseases. Your problem may be easy to correct. Chiropractic is both holistic and the most conservative health care available. It is extremely successful in the correction of nerve related problems.

This month Dr. Sheehan is offering free spinal exams and will check for the possibility of pinched nerves.

Call today for an appointment.

IF YOU'RE A BUSINESS IN SEARCH OF A BANK...

"Arlington
Trust Company
spoiled us..."

Craig (left) and Debbie Schreck, co-owners of Midas Muffler and Brake Center of Seabrook, NH, discuss the Midas Muffler lifetime guarantee with Bernard Falcone, Regional Vice President/Coastal Region, Arlington Trust Company.

Midas Muffler's motto is 'No one beats Midas'. As far as Craig and Debbie Schreck are concerned, no one beats Arlington Trust Company.

The Schrecks are co-owners of the Midas Muffler and Brake Center of Seabrook. They also own Midas Centers in Rochester, New Hampshire and in Newburyport. They have been with Arlington Trust Company since opening their Newburyport location in 1981, but when they opened their Rochester Midas Muffler Center in 1985, they felt they should use a New Hampshire bank.

"However, we became so upset with the service we didn't receive, that when we opened our Seabrook shop in 1986, we came back to Arlington Trust. Arlington Trust Company had spoiled us," Debbie explained. "Bernie Falcone got involved right from the start — he learned all about our business and its needs. And he's been our Arlington Trust representative all these years. In the single year we used the other bank, they changed loan officers on us three times!"

Arlington Trust Company has been serving the banking needs of businesses for nearly 100 years. If you're a business in search of a bank, come to Arlington Trust.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Your baby's crib will be his/her bed for three or more years. Choose it wisely. New cribs must now meet government safety regulations. They must be of a standard size, 27 by 54 inches, so a mattress will fit snugly; slats can be no more than 2-3/8 inches (six centimeters) apart, so a newborn's head cannot be accidentally wedged between them. The locking device on the drop rail must be secure against accidental opening, and the drop-side panel, when lowered, must be at least nine inches above the mattress, so the baby cannot accidentally tumble over it. In addition, all hardware must be safely beyond the infant's reach.

Leading manufacturers are represented at TINY TOTLAND. Open 9-5:30. Mon. & Th. 9-9. M/C & Visa honored. free lay-a-way plan. Do all of your shopping for baby in once convenient stop. 'Tot Lot' Committee Organizes

A group of concerned Andover parents held an organization meeting of T.L.C. (Tot Lot Committee) on July 29 at the home of Peggy Coleman. The parents discussed the need for developing additional recreational facilities in Andover designed to meet the special needs of "tots" (preschoolers up to six years old). The goals of the organization, possibility of an indoor as well as outdoor playground facility to address those winter blahs, sources of age appropriate equipment, available community resources and methods of funding TLC's activities were discussed. The group expressed the hope that a tot lot would, as has the Dragon's Lair playground, create a place where parents and their young children can meet, make friends and play in a safe and stimulating setting.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10, at 10 a.m. at the home of Lois Karfunkel, 22 Orchard Crossing, Andover. Children are welcome. To find more about TLC or to attend the meeting, call Coleman or Karfunkel.

Appeared In Football Classic

By Rick Harrison

Three Andover residents participated in the 27th annual Harry Agganis Football Classic last Friday night at Manning Bowl in Lynn.

Mark Duncan and Rob Finneran played for the victorious East team, which nipped the West 13-7, while Bill O'Brien saw action for the West.

Andover High graduate Duncan, a 6-4, 245-pound two-way lineman headed for the University of Rhode Island next month, participated in several tackles, saw some duty on special teams and was in the starting lineup.

Central Catholic product Finneran, a 6-2, 215-pound defensive end who will enroll at Ithaca College this fall, made a key 14 yard sack late in the first quarter to set up the initial East touchdown.

Finneran broke through on third down to nail West quarterback Tim Legere of Arlington for the big loss back at the West four yard line, forcing a short punt from the endzone that set up a 26-yard drive for the TD.

Lentz To Attend Merrimack

When Merrimack College women's head coach Debbie Cogan closed the door on the 1987-88 basketball season, she earmarked two basic needs to improve on a 9-19 campaign: height and more height.

The Lady Warriors obviously need inside help if they want to become a contender in the highly-competitive Northeast-10 Conference. Consequently, it came as no surprise when this spring's recruiting effort centered around tall orders.

The end result was three local signings that added up to 18 feet of basketball talent: 6'1"

Andover Blue In Pony Finals

Andover Blue, the 1987 Pony League champions, made it to the final round for the second straight year, defeating Lynnfield Gold 7-4. The Blue, managed by Joe Iarrobino, finished the regular season 16-2, best in the league and guaranteeing home field advantage throughout the playoffs. In the opening round, Joe Marinaro pitched a complete game four hitter for his sixth win of the season. The Blue pounded out nine hits, including two hits each by Brian Novelline, Marinaro and Ryan Legrow.

Andover Blue 7 Lynnfield Gold 4

The Blue fell behind 2-0 after one inning. In the last half of the fourth inning they pushed across three runs to take the lead for good. Brendan Sharkey led off with a walk, Matt Harris walked and Ryan Legrow placed a perfect bunt for a base hit to load the bases. Bobby Sheehan flied out to left, scoring Sharkey and the Blue was on the board. Todd Allard sacrificed to score Harris and Brian Novelline singled, driving in Legrow for a 3-2 lead. The Gold tied the game in the fifth on an unearned run. However, Adam Brown led off with a single, Sharkey walked for the second straight time and Legrow and Sheehan hit back-to-back doubles and the Blue led 6-3. Novelline singled, stole second and scored on Joe Marinaro's double to add an insurance run. The Gold scored one run in the seventh, but fell short 7-4. Arch rivals Andover Blue and Andover Gold play in a best two of three for the championship.

Andover Blue 8 Reading Jets 3

Andover Blue opened the scoring in the first when Todd Allard singled, went to third and scored on Joe Marinaro's sacrifice fly. The Jets had two runs. The Blue tied it in the third on a walk to Allard and a couple of Jet errors. The score remained tied until the fifth when, with one out, Sheehan singled, Allard walked and Brian Novelline doubled, driving in Sheehan and Allard. Marinaro singled, driving in Novelline and Brown and 13-year-old Justin He-senius singled. When the dust cleared five runs had crossed the plate. Andover Blue added an insurance run and won 8-3. Allard picked up his fifth win and Sheehan finished up to preserve the win.

Andover Blue 3 Reading Rockets 2

In their first meeting, the Blue beat the Rockets 18-11. In this game the Blue managed only two hits and came from behind to win the season finale 3-2. Justin Hesenius pitched five outstanding innings, allowing one run, three hits and Bobby Sheehan pitched the last two and collected his first win of the season.

Andover Blue 3 Reading Rockets 2

The Blue scored first in the third when 13-year-old Andy Novelline walked and rode home on 13-year-old Josh Nelkin's two-base hit. The Rockets scored runs in the fifth and sixth. The Blue scored in the sixth when Todd Allard and Brian Novelline were hit by pitched balls and Allard scored on a wild pitch. In the last of the seventh, Adam Brown beat out a bunt, Matt Harris and Brendon Sharkey walked, Ryan Legrow executed a suicide squeeze and the Blue wrapped up the win.

Manager Iarrobino molded an inexperienced team to the best record in the Pony League. Large praise goes to coaches Dick Allard and Red Harris for their efforts in the steady improvement of the ball club.

Little League

against Arlington and Lynn Wyoma.

Andover National, which will enter the state tourney with an 8-1 overall record, became the first team in the 41-year history of District 14 play to win three consecutive championships.

They did it by beating previously-undefeated Billerica American twice in the championship round, romping to an 11-3 victory and then riding two-run homers by lefty pitching aces Toby Guzowski and Rick Saggese to a 4-3 triumph in the winner-take-all final last week in Chelmsford.

A-N moved a step closer to the states with a convincing 9-4 romp over District 13 king Arlington last Saturday at Weafer Field in Woburn, and earned the short trip to Billerica by whipping District 16 winner and traditional Little League power Lynn Wyoma 6-2 Monday evening at Forest Glen Park in Salem.

Andover National, which dropped its opening game in the 1988 state tourney, joins Walpole, Lee and Taunton in the two-day affair scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday at refurbished O'Keefe Field (Vining School) in Billerica.

Andover opens against Walpole tomorrow evening at 5 p.m., with Lee and Taunton playing the first game at 3 o'clock.

The two winners will square off for the state title on Saturday, with the losers meeting in a consolation prelim.

Should A-N win the state title it would proceed to the Eastern Regionals in Connecticut, a 12-team single-elimination affair involving champs from the six New England states, New York and New Jersey.

The ultimate step would be the international Little League "World Series" at Lacombe Field in Williamsport, Pa. against the likes of Taiwan in late August.

"This team and its success is a product of many years hard work," said manager Jim Arnold, who is being assisted by John Murphy and Red Harris. "Andover National hasn't won three District 14 championships by accident. It isn't a fluke.

"There has been a corps of six or seven men who have put hours and hours of work into the program to make this a reality," continued Arnold. "They've encouraged the kids to attend summer camps, participate in summer tournaments, and go to gymnasiums for winter workouts.

"I can still remember very well the years when Andover would go to the tournament, lose 10-0, and go home. Now we have an organization that we can be very proud of," said Arnold.

In addition to Murphy and Harris, Arnold credited Bill Batchelder, Frank Orlando and current Andover National president Bill Novelline for their efforts.

Batchelder, who coaches the Mets during the regular Andover Little League season, directed the past two A-N All-Star squads to District 14 titles and their first-ever appearance in the state tourney.

Arnold also emphasized the team concept adhered to by the current group of players, noting that everyone had contributed to the overall success.

He paid extra attention to his two pitching stars, Toby Guzowski and Rick Saggese.

"Guzowski has the body of a man, and because of his size (six-foot, 175 pounds, size 13 cleat) everyone expects him to do more," admitted Arnold. "We (coaches) have asked him to do a lot for us, probably too much, but he's faced up to it and come through every time.

"There is a lot of pressure on these kids at this level of competition, but Toby's a very mature kid and he hasn't back away from anything.

"I know if I were an opposing player I'd think twice about stepping in the batter's box against him," added Arnold.

"Saggese is an extraordinary baseball player. He puts a lot of emphasis on the game, pushes himself, and then lives up to his own expectations.

Support Group

The Epilepsy Association of Greater Boston announces the formation of a support group for people with epilepsy, their friends and family in the Lawrence area.

The group meets the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Lawrence Public Library, 51 Lawrence St., from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

"Ricky is extremely fluid, as a pitcher and a hitter, and every time he bats the potential to hit a homerun is there," noted Arnold.

Andover National, 11-3

A-N, whose only tournament loss was to Billerica American in the district semifinals (3-2), exploded for five runs in the second inning to break this game against the same team wide open.

The champs scored twice in the first inning when leadoff batter Dan Hansberry walked, Brian Flanagan reached on an error and winning pitcher Rick Saggese belted a two-run double.

Matt Wolcott launched the five-run second with his first tournament homerun. Ryan Moynihan was safe on a Billerica error, Pat Walsh walked, Todd Harris ripped an RBI single, Flanagan belted a run-scoring double, and singles by Paul Allard and Toby Guzowski chased home the other two runs.

Billerica American trimmed the A-N led to 7-3 in the third, but the locals scored two in the fourth and two more in the fifth inning.

Saggese drilled a one-out homerun in the fourth, and then Wolcott doubled home Guzowski who had singled.

In the fifth Saggese completed a five-RBI performance with his second two-run double, rescuing Hansberry and Harris who reached on errors.

Saggese went the distance on a four-hitter, walking three and striking out nine.

Ricky Crispo added a basehit for A-N.

Andover National, 4-3

Toby Guzowski won his fourth straight tourney game, and pitched his third two-hitter, as Andover National clinched the district crown with a taut one-run triumph over Billerica American.

Guzowski struck out 11 and walked three, besting B-A ace Jon Delisle (3-1) who had crafted a pair of earlier tournament shutouts and also pitched the 3-2 victory over A-N.

Delisle yielded just five hits in this one, walking two and whiffing one.

Andover jumped on top 2-0 in the second as Matt Wolcott singled and Guzowski lofted a two-run homer over the centerfield fence.

In the third stanza Todd Harris reached on an error and Rick Saggese provided the winning blow, a two-run blast that traveled approximately 300-feet to left-centerfield.

Billerica American didn't go down easily, however, closing the deficit to 4-3 in the fourth.

Guzowski experienced a costly wild streak, hitting both Dana Dulong and Jerry Keefe with pitches, and he then laid one in that Justin Auger sent over the rightfield fence for a three-run homer.

Billerica mounted a serious threat in the fifth, loading the bases with one out on walks to Adam Nowicki, Jim Egan and a single by Dulong.

Guzowski was equal to the challenge, however, getting the dangerous Delisle to foul out to first baseman Rick Saggese before fanning Keefe.

Billerica went down 1-2-3 in the sixth.

Brian Flanagan and Ryan Moynihan contributed singles for Andover National.

Andover National, 9-4

A-N was nursing a 3-0 lead over Arlington in Bi-District play last Saturday, then erupted for five runs in the top of the fifth to coast to the triumph.

Rick Saggese (3-1 tourney record) went the route for the victory, permitting seven Arlington hits, walking four and whiffing three.

Andover National jumped ahead 2-0 in the first frame when Dan Hansberry walked, Brian Flanagan ripped a one-out single, Paul Allard walked to load the bases, Saggese smashed a too-hot-to-handle line drive RBI single off the centerfielder's glove, and Toby Guzowski lashed an RBI basehit.

In the fourth Matt Wolcott reached on an error, and he eventually scored after singles by Guzowski, Ryan Moynihan and Pat Walsh (RBI).

Allard started the five-run rally in the fifth with a one-out single. Saggese drilled a run-scoring double, Wolcott clouted an RBI triple, Guzowski slapped an RBI single, Moynihan singled, Walsh grounded into a fielder's choice, and Hansberry smacked a two-run triple.

Arlington broke up Saggese's shutout with three runs in the bottom of the fifth, and the teams traded runs in the sixth with A-N registering on doubles by Flanagan and Saggese (RBI).

Saggese, Flanagan and Guzowski all went 3-for-4 in the game, while Moynihan added a pair of safeties.

Third baseman Pat Walsh and second baseman Peter Daniels made fine defensive plays for the Nationals.

Andover National, 6-2

Toby Guzowski hiked his tournament record to 5-0, and his strikeout total to 50 in 30 innings, as he tossed a one-hitter and fanned 12 against Lynn Wyoma.

The only safety he allowed was a scratch single, as Lynn Wyoma was unable to get a ball out of the infield against the rangy southpaw.

Guzowski, who has yielded just 10 hits in the 30 innings, kept things interesting by issuing 11 walks as well.

Lynn Wyoma left nine runners on base, twice stranding three and having men at second and third when the final out was recorded in the bottom of the sixth.

Andover National spotted Lynn a 2-0 lead after Wyoma scored single runs in the second and third innings.

In the A-N fourth Brian Flanagan reached on a two-out fielder's choice, and Rick Saggese was credited with a long double when the ball popped out of the Lynn outfielder's glove as he hit the fence.

Flanagan then crossed on a wild pitch, and Guzowski tied the game 2-2 with an RBI single.

A four-run fifth, highlighted by catcher Paul Allard's two-run single, carried Andover National to victory.

Todd Harris and Ryan Moynihan started the rally with consecutive one-out bunt singles, and Matt Wolcott was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Allard then smacked his two-run single, and a pair of insurance runs crossed when Guzowski's flyball was dropped by a Lynn Wyoma outfielder.

Saggese paced the six-hit attack with two safeties, including a single that bounced off the fence.

Paul Allard did an exceptional defensive job at catcher.

Directions To Tourney

The Andover National Major Little League All-Stars open play in the state tournament tomorrow night against Walpole at 5 p.m. at O'Keefe Field in Billerica.

Recently-renovated O'Keefe Field is located at the Vining School.

Because the tourney is being played so close to home, A-N officials are hoping to draw large crowds to both Andover games.

Following are directions to O'Keefe Field.

From Andover take Rte. 495 south to Rte. 3 south. On Rte. 3 take the Concord Road exit and follow it to Billerica center.

Smith No-hitter Puts Gold In Playoffs

By Rick Harrison

Bryan Smith fired a no-hitter, striking out seven, as the Andover Gold baseball team advanced to the Greater-Reading Pony League playoff championship series for the third time in four years by blanking the Reading Astros 16-0 in their one-game semifinal showdown last Monday night at the Andover High field.

Despite ending the regular season with a tie and a controversial one-run loss in extra innings, the 14-4-1 Gold managed to clinch its fourth straight GRPL division championship last weekend.

Gold stumbled against two other playoff teams, tying the East Division runnerup Astros 4-4 and dropping a tough 3-2 decision to West Division bridesmaid Lynnfield in a game that ended with a non-call by the umpire on a clear case of obstruction by a Lynnfield runner.

The loss to Lynnfield left Gold with a 13-4-1 regular season record, identical to the mark posted by Lynnfield, and league officials had to go to the second tiebreaker rule to determine AG as the champion once again.

It was Gold's initial West Division title after three straight East crowns.

The first tiebreaker is runs scored in head-to-head competition, but since Gold had beaten Lynnfield 2-1 earlier the total runs were even at 4-4.

The second tiebreaker is record within the division, and in that department Gold was a clear winner with a 7-2 ledger compared to Lynnfield's 5-3-1.

Gold was scheduled to face Andover Blue this week in a best-of-3 series for the league championship. The opening game was slated for last night, with game two listed for this evening at 5:30 p.m. at Andover High.

Andover Gold, 16-0

Bryan Smith crafted AG's first no-hitter of the season, his second shutout and the team's fourth overall, as Gold eliminated the Reading Astros from the playoffs in convincing fashion.

Gold scored five runs in the bottom of the first, after two were out, and added six in the third and five more in the fifth.

Bill Batchelder, who went 4-for-4 with four RBI, started the first-inning rally with a sharp single to leftfield.

Smith was safe on an error, Jim Landry walked to load the bases, Mark Hopkinson dumped an RBI single down the leftfield line, Matt Daniels' sharp shot to third base was misplayed for a run, Scott Halecki walked, Peter Arthur lined an RBI single and Jim Hanning drew a bases-loaded walk for a run.

In the third Matt Orlando drew a bases-loaded walk, Batchelder ripped a two-run single, the Astros committed two errors and other walks were issued to Smith, Landry, Arthur and Hanning.

In the fifth Batchelder smacked a two-run double, Hopkinson an RBI single, Jim Landry drew a bases-loaded walk, and Matt Orlando's fielder's choice grounder chased home a run.

Mark Hopkinson, Peter Arthur and Mike Daley added two hits apiece for Gold, Jim Landry drew three walks, and Arthur made a fine catch in rightfield.

Gold-Astros, 4-4

Peter Arthur's two-run single in the bottom of the sixth enabled Gold to salvage the tie against the Reading Astros, a deadlock that came despite the fact starting pitcher Bryan Smith pitched 5-1/3 outstanding innings and deserved a better fate in the game at Andover High.

After spending well over an hour fixing the field following two afternoons of torrential downpours, AG came up a little flat against East Division runner-up and first-round playoff foe Reading.

The Astros jumped ahead 2-0 in the top of the first, helped by an infield error by the Gold.

The West Division champs came back with a run in the bottom of the stanza when leadoff batter Matt Orlando singled, stole second and eventually scored on Bill Batchelder's sacrifice fly.

Smith then appeared to tie the game with a sharp single to centerfield, but Gold lost the deadlock when the runner failed to touch third base and Reading appealed.

While Smith was shutting the Astros down, striking out eight along the way, Gold finally did pull even in the fourth as Smith singled, stole second and scored on Jim Landry's line drive single to centerfield.

The Astros regained the upper hand, 4-2, in the top of the sixth when they nicked AG ace pitcher Bill Batchelder for an RBI double and scored their final run on a balk.

Smith

Landry opened the home half of the sixth with a double, Mark Hopkinson singled him to third, and then Hopkinson stole second.

That set the stage for Peter Arthur's clutch two-run single. He then stole second, but the last opportunity for victory slipped away when Matt Orlando's hard liner to centerfield was tracked down.

Landry and Smith led the seven-hit Gold attack with two safeties apiece, while Batchelder made an outstanding defensive play at shortstop.

Batchelder had his 15-game hitting streak snapped by the Astros, failing to hit safely for the first time this season.

Lynnfield, 3-2

With two outs, runners at first and second, and two strikes on the Lynnfield batter in the bottom of the eighth the game ended in a major dispute.

Mark Constantine grounded a ball to Andover Gold shortstop Mark Hopkinson, whose left arm was struck by the runner moving from second to third base.

The contact enabled the ball to skip through to leftfield, and when the obstruction call was not made the winning run crossed the plate.

The controversial conclusion tainted what was a fine game otherwise, Andover Gold's Bill Batchelder (7-2) limiting Lynnfield to three hits and striking out 12 in 6-2/3 innings of strong relief.

AG managed just five hits itself over the eight-inning distance, and both its runs were unearned.

It marked the second 3-2 loss of the season, and three of Gold's four losses came by a total of five runs.

Gold, which stranded 10 baserunners, tied the game 1-1 in the top of the third when Matt Orlando walked, Scott Halecki sacrificed him to second, and he scored on a throwing error.

A subsequent walk to Bryan Smith and single by Mark Hopkinson appeared to load the bases, but a Gold player over-ran third base and was tagged out to end the threat.

Gold inched ahead 2-1 in the top of the fourth at the Lynnfield Middle School field, but also left the bases loaded.

Matt Daniels singled, Peter Arthur reached on a fielder's choice with Daniels out at second base, and Jim Hanning followed with a single.

Legion Team Wins Three

By Rick Harrison

The resurgent Andover Post 8 Legion baseball team won three close decisions over the last two weeks of the season, and picked up another victory by forfeit, as it hiked its final overall Essex County Zone 8-8A record to 11-10 after a slow start.

It marked the sixth consecutive winning season for Post 8 and coach Al Pelletier, and Andover finished in a virtual three-way tie for second place in Zone 8-A with Lawrence Post 15 and Wakefield. Lawrence also ended 11-10 and Wakefield 11-11.

The last three Andover triumphs came at the expense of Zone 8 champion Lynn, 5-3, Haverhill, 3-2, and Swampscott, 2-1 in eight innings. The forfeit was registered against North Andover.

Andover, which also lost its season finale to Wakefield 7-5 and had a twice rain-postponed game with Lawrence eventually cancelled, won six of its last eight overall.

Methuen Post 122 won the Zone 8-A title, qualifying for the State Legion Tournament and sweeping Zone 5-A titlist North Chelmsford Vinal Post 313 in a best-of-3 district playoff series last week-end, 3-1 and 3-2.

Keith Abernathy, who led Andover High's Merrimack Valley Conference champions and Eastern Mass. Division 1 North titlists in hitting last spring, duplicated the feat by pacing the Legion with a .404 average.

Other top hitters for Post 8 were Tom Murray (.340), Scott Wallace (.323), John Russell (.318), Matt Pothier (.286) who missed the final part of the season with an ankle injury, Kevin Foley (.277) and Andy Shea (.262).

Righthander Barry Connors paced the pitching parade with a perfect 4-0 record, lefty Kevin Foley was 2-0 and John Russell 3-2.

Andover, 5-3

Steve Surette (2-4), returning to top form after a lengthy and well-deserved rest, fired a complete-game six-hitter to hand Lynn Post 6 only its third defeat in 17 games.

Surette walked four, whiffed five and outduelled lefty Tom Fila who was the state Division 2 high school Player-of-the-Year while leading St. Mary's of Lynn to a rare undefeated season (25-0).

Andover grabbed a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the third at Phillips Academy when Andy Shea walked, Surette sacrificed him to second, white-hot Scott Wallace rapped a two-out RBI single, stole second and crossed on Keith Abernathy's single.

Post 8 upped the advantage to 3-0 in the fourth after Tom Murray tripled and Joe Lyons hammered a run-scoring double.

Lynn nicked Surette for two runs in the top of the fifth, but Andover responded in the sixth when Abernathy doubled, John Moossa smacked an RBI single, advanced on a passed ball and scored on Lyons' single.

Lynn, 14-3 overall, added its final run in the seventh.

Murray, Abernathy and Lyons paced the eight-hit attack against Fila with two safeties apiece.

Andover, 3-2

Righthanders John Russell (4-1) and Barry Connors kept the string of outstanding pitching performances going as they combined talents to beat Haverhill by a single run at Phillips Academy.

Russell pitched the first 5-2/3 innings, yielding 11 hits while fanning six and walking only one. Connors hurled the last 1-1/3 frames of hitless relief, issuing two walks.

Andover snapped the scoreless shutout in the fourth as Tom Murray singled, stole second and raced home on Kevin Foley's single. Foley then stole second and was rescued by a Lyons' double.

The eventual winning run came in the fifth, and was unearned, as Steve Howes cracked a double and scored when Keith Abernathy's fly was misplayed for a two-base error.

Haverhill chased Russell with four singles and two runs in the sixth, but Connors came on to douse the flames.

Howes finished with two doubles, Abernathy singled and Russell made a fine defensive play on the mound early in the game.

Andover, 2-1

Barry Connors, now 4-0, crafted a brilliant four-hitter against Swampscott.

He struck out 10, walked only one and the lone run against him in eight innings was unearned.

Post 8, which managed just three hits off three Swampscott pitchers, grabbed a 1-0 lead in the third at Swampscott High's Phillips Field.

Steve Surette walked, Andy Shea singled, Connors laid down a sacrifice bunt, and Steve Howes' fielder's choice ground-er plated Surette.

It stayed that way until the bottom of the seventh, when Swampscott notched an unearned run.

Post 8 won it in the eighth, however, as Sean Gill singled, Scott Wallace doubled him to third, and Joe Iarrobino hoisted a sacrifice fly.

Wakefield, 7-5

Visiting Wakefield pushed across three runs in the top of the seventh to overcome a 5-4 deficit and nip Post 8 in the season

A Final Look At Golden Warriors' Most Successful Baseball Team

By Rick Harrison

Here's one last look at the 1988 Andover High baseball team, which was comprised of 13 distinctly different individuals who meshed in just the right way to produce the most successful squad in the history of the sport at AHS.

The kids are the ones that performed their magic between the white lines, under the direction of head coach Dave Bettencourt, and here's how the skipper described each member of the Golden Warriors' talented baker's dozen.

SCOTT WALLACE (co-captain) — "Scotty's the hardest worker I've ever coached. He's the type of leader every outstanding team must have, and he wanted to win more than any player I've ever seen."

TOM MURRAY (co-captain) — "Tom developed into an outstanding catcher after he finally figured out exactly where I was coming from. He has a great pair of hands, is an excellent hitter and a tremendous college prospect (Providence and UMass are still battling for his services)."

MIKE MORIARTY — "Mike is the finest high school hitter I've ever coached. When he steps to the plate he scares you as a hitter. He's also going to be a terrific college baseball player."

CHRIS CONCEMI — "Chris is a silent leader whom the other players all respect. He was an excellent defensive first baseman. The team had all the confidence in the world when throws went over there that Chris would get the ball, whether it was high or in the dirt. He really worked hard at the game, and produced some very big RBI hits for us."

RICK LAFOND — "We're all going to miss Rick next year because he was the best centerfielder in the league. If he realizes his potential there's no telling what he could do. He can run, throw and hit. He has the complete baseball package. Just a tremendous athlete."

STEVE HOWES — "A very intense person. Very emotional. Steve isn't afraid of anything hit his way."

He throws his body in front of everything. He tries too hard sometimes, and he always kept the coaches on their toes."

KEITH ABERNATHY — "A very pleasant surprise. Keith developed into a good shortstop, and he quietly led the Large School Division in batting (.452). He has an outstanding arm and should be one of the league's best players next year."

JOHN GLYNN — "John had a great season for us. Another pleasant surprise. He moved the ball, got off to a great start, and picked up our offense early in the season."

MATT POTHIER — "A real gutsy kid. Matt played when he was ill and played when he was hurt. He was the epitome of the team player. Matty's an exciting baserunner, an instigator who makes things happen."

JACK DALTON — "An inspiration to the whole team. Jack was emotionally into every game. He was always fired up, and a big key to our success in terms of putting aside personal goals and making sacrifices for the team. I have a great deal of respect for Jack."

TODD MUSTERAIT — "Another fine player who could have, but never did, complain. He's a good pitcher but understood our situation this year. He always came prepared, gave us a great effort against Chelmsford early in the year, and will be a definite asset next spring."

JOHN RUSSELL — "Another pleasant surprise. John continued to improve as a pitcher all season. Another very intense kid who played within himself. Waltham was the smartest game I've seen him pitch."

STEVE SURETTE — "What more can be said about Steve? He's a winner, the high school equivalent to a Larry Bird, Roger Clemens or Wayne Gretzky. He knows how to close out an opponent, how to put

Awarded Varsity Letter

Nicole Grieco, who recently completed her sophomore year at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., and resides in Andover, earned her first varsity letter in crew at the college, head coach Beth Emery announced.

Rowing with the women's varsity eight crew for their opening two races before finishing up the year as a member of the junior varsity eight, Grieco helped the varsity boat post a near-perfect mark of 11-1 during the 1988 regular season. She then aided the junior varsity cause as the junior Cardinals went 3-1, finished second of five entries in the New England championship and second in a field of 12 at the Dad Vail Regatta, considered the small college national championships.

A year ago Grieco inaugurated her rowing as a member of the novice eight crew.

them away for good, and that's something you can't teach or coach an athlete."

"We had tremendous leadership from Wallace and Murray, both of whom took the Waltham loss extra hard," said Betencourt. "But without each and every one of those 13 players we couldn't have accomplished what we did."

"The toughest part about a tournament is only one team can win the championship. Everyone else goes home with a bitter taste in their mouth."

"I hate losing. Everyone knows that. But when the kids go out and do the very best they can no one can ask for or expect more. I can't be upset with a 1-0 loss. I'm extremely proud of these kids."

"I told the seniors after the game I felt they'd set a new standard for sfuture Andover High baseball teams," said Betencourt. "They are the leaders of the first Andover team to win a Merrimack Valley Conference championship, and the first Andover team to go to an Eastern Mass. final."

"I told the underclassmen things were going to get much tougher for us next year. Every game will be like the state tournament because everyone will be out to beat the defending champs."

"In our league you have to prepare for every game, and that helps make the tournament seem like an extension of the regular season."

The varsity finished the season 17-7 overall.

Brent Raftery, who played on Andover High's varsity hockey team as an underclassman this past winter, finished second in the Hockey North Junior-Senior Division individual scoring race.

Hockey North is a spring league at Sauquoit Hockeytown-USA that runs for seven weeks in April and May.

Brent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Raftery, 237 Holt Road, finished with 39 points on 16 goals and 23 assists (just two behind leader and teammate Kurt Mallet) while playing for Coach Joe Yannetti's division champion White Team.

Other Andover kids listed on Hockey North Junior-Senior rosters were defenseman Andy Weiner and goalie Ed Owens, while Freshman-Sophomore Division players included wingers Dan Feeley and Scott Halecki.

Dick Bourdelais, Andover High athletic director, has posted several coaching vacancies for next fall season.

Andover is looking for a girls' varsity volleyball coach, an assistant girls' volleyball coach, an assistant varsity football coach, an assistant junior varsity football coach and an assistant cross country coach.

Interested persons should apply in writing to the personnel office, Andover Public Schools, Bartlet Street.

Ted Boudreau, Doherty Junior High teacher/coach, enhanced Andover's cable TV station with the second in a series of sports call-in shows last week.

Appearing on the program were varsity baseball captains Scott Wallace and Tom Murray, junior varsity baseball coach Dan Grams, girls' varsity tennis coach Laura Goodman, and two of her players, senior singles' standout Liz Jurek and doubles' player Andrea Georgian.

Jurek reportedly will attend Harvard University in the fall, while Murray is being heavily recruited by both Providence College of the Big East and Atlantic-10 Conference runner-up University of Massachusetts.

Dan Fay, Mike LeBreck and Chip Stella, three talented members of the Andover High varsity golf team, participated in the annual MIAA Individual Tournament Qualifying Round for the North Shore Area at Far Corners Golf Club in Boxford recently.

Another Andover resident, Pat Breen, played for St. John's Preparatory in Danvers and qualified for the MIAA Individual State Golf Tournament finals earlier this week at Glen Ellen Golf Club in Millis. Breen's SJP squad also qualified for the State Team Tournament slated for this week.

Mike Lane, Glenn Farnham and Rob Finneran, all of Andover, recently received recognition at the Central Catholic Spring Awards Night.

Lane was a co-recipient of the Coaches Award in baseball, Farnham was named the baseball team's Unsung Hero, and Finneran was co-MVP of the Red Raiders' outdoor track team.

Lane will attend Florida Southern University next fall, where he hopes to play baseball for the recently-crowned NCAA Division 2 champions. Mike, younger brother Chris Lane and Dave Miles are Andover players on the defending Zone 8-A champion Lawrence Legion baseball team this summer.

Shane Smith, Mark Grams, Rob Carpenter and Rob Wilson are playing in some fast baseball circles this summer.

Smith, Grams and pitcher Carpenter are members of the currently undefeated Lowell Braves (17-0) of the Eastern Mass. League, who won the Chelmsford Invitational Tournament over the Memorial holiday weekend, while Wilson is a starting outfielder for the Wilmington Astros of the Inter-City League.

Engineer Retires From 32-Year Teaching Career

By Melissa M. De Meo

Summer vacation is here for the 800 students who graduated from Northern Essex Community College this year. School's also out for one of their professors, James F. Sullivan, who retired from a teaching career at Northern Essex that's spanned as many years as the school is old.

Sullivan, who lives at 9 Matthew St., started at Northern Essex in 1962 as head of the electrical engineering department. He retired at the end of this school year.

Then president Harold Bentley invited Sullivan to NECC to help set up its engineering department. Back then, Sullivan's division had 15 students and two teachers, including himself. Classes met at what was first a jail, then an elementary school in Bradford.

Despite its history, it "was a very enjoyable place to work," said Sullivan, who started as head of the electrical engineering department. "The teachers and students really got to know each other, but they still got a lot of work done."

The ever-increasing number of incoming students had to be accommodated. "As we grew we overflowed into other buildings—the Congregational church, the Grange Hall and I believe the YMCA," Sullivan said. "The president used to brag that, not only were we the most ecumenical, but we were the only college with a river in the middle."

In 1970, the school got state money to build a new facility on the shores of Lake Kenzo in Haverhill. It was built to house 4,000 students, but some of the present population of about 8,000 has to be serviced by satellite campuses in Andover, Lawrence, Reading, Dracut and Newburyport.

In '78 Sullivan, who by then had been promoted to chairman of the division of engineering science and technical studies, decided to go back to teaching full-time. He took on two more courses, comprised of freshmen and sophomores. "They're more of a challenge," Sullivan said of the underclassmen. "You have a chance of trying to form them. In the upper levels, they've already formed study habits."

administration, the division had added new programs, such as engineering science and computer and civil technology, and more teachers. When he retired, the division had 350 students, much more than the handful who started out 26 years ago.

There's been a lot of changes since Sullivan got his own bachelor's degree. "My original plans were to teach foreign languages," he said. "But that was interrupted by World War II, and the Army put me in electronics." Sullivan was in the Signal Corps during the war and decided against the foreign languages idea.

He received his degree in electrical engineering from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Between graduate work at the University of Lowell, the University of New Hampshire, Salem State College and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, he was getting hands-on experience. After college, Sullivan became a test design engineer for Western Electric Co. in Winston-Salem, N.C. After about a year there, the Holyoke native decided he wanted to be closer to home and started work at General Electric Co. in Lynn. Then he rejoined Western Electric at its new North Andover branch.

In 1956, Sullivan left Western Electric to teach at Merrimack College. His desire to teach, he said, goes back to his junior high years. He had been teaching at the college evenings, and started a day job there in what he thought would be a "between-jobs" position.

Sullivan established Merrimack's electrical engineering department and remained as its head for four years. "That was fun," Sullivan said. "It was very exciting. It was long hours, but very rewarding."

In his new job as a school administrator, Sullivan researched course possibilities, recruited teachers and ordered and purchased equipment, some of which came in the form of gifts from local companies.

The first class he oversaw had about 35 freshmen—"a good size," according to Sullivan. The new students started in core courses, but, by the time they were seniors, the class had thinned out to a dozen. "That's normal," Sullivan said. He said as the going gets tougher, some students decide engineering isn't for them.

"The first couple of classes were great kids," he remembered. "I keep in contact with some of them; some of them still live locally."

Before he left Northern Essex, Sullivan helped the school work out a deal with Merrimack College that enables graduates of the community college to finish their bachelor's degrees at Merrimack at the cost of a state tuition. To be eligible, the Northern Essex students must have graduated with at least a B average. Sullivan said he made sure the NECC courses were transferrable. The program starts this fall.

Sullivan says he didn't feel a lack of prestige while teaching at the community college. He says Northern Essex is a good school that gives students a solid background. "What used to offend us," he said, "was when we asked the students, 'Why did you come to Northern Essex?,' and they'd say, 'Because I couldn't get into college.'"

"It does a fine job of preparing students, and it's a good vehicle for those who want to enter civil technology, electronics or a career-oriented field."

Community college students can also have their credits transferred to a four-year institution, Sullivan said.

"The big advantage of a community college is that if you start to pursue one track, then find you really don't have the talent for mathematics," you don't have to stick with a scientific study like electrical engineering.

In the two-year interim between teaching at Merrimack and Northern Essex, Sullivan worked at the Lowell Technological Institute as an assistant professor of engineering. He taught juniors, seniors and graduate students there.

Sullivan says he's seen a lot of students pass through his classroom doors. And they're all been different. "Students have varied interests," he said. "There's always the group who are always talking about their computers or cars, but they're Andover resident Jim Sullivan set up engineering departments at Merrimack College and Northern Essex Community College. The engineer-turned-teacher recently retired after 26 years at Northern Essex.

a pretty well-rounded group in general."

The typical engineering class is no longer all-male. When he first started at Merrimack there were no women engineering students until the third year, when there was one in a class of about 60. Now there is a "large influx" of women into engineering programs, he said.

"It's an excellent field for women to get into. The pay is very good, and employers are eager to hire them because they're trying to fill quotas."

Sullivan added with a smile that the increase of women in engineering classrooms "has had the influence of making the rest of the class more well-groomed."

The caliber of the students also changes periodically, according to Sullivan. When he began teaching, the Korean War had just ended, and many of his students were veterans—"an older group who were hard-working."

"As that phase passed, students coming in were out of high school. They didn't have the same zeal."

pended less upon help from the State House than surrounding communities. Neighboring Lawrence, for example, is looking at a cutback of nearly $2 million from what the city previously received.

"I can see where other (towns and cities) might have problems," said Torisi.

Originally, the cuts were to come from lottery profits, but state legislators blocked the Dukakis administration's attempt to siphon $51 million from lottery revenues.

Instead, Dukakis pulled the money from general aid accounts and school programs, which Torisi termed a wash.

Overall, the budget for the fiscal year beginning June 30 was sliced by almost $400 million to its current level of $11.6 billion.

Of the $91 million pulled from state aid to municipalities, $79 million came from general aid accounts and $12 million had been earmarked for school assistance.

Some area legislators criticized the $91 million cutback as a political move prompted by the need to balance the state budget in time for Dukakis' appearance at last month's Democratic convention.

There has been talk of attempting to override the governor's veto, but no move has reached the floor as yet.

tional money in the school budget should be allocated equally to teaching materials and to teacher salaries. However, making cuts in teacher salaries was an unpopular choice for making budget cuts.

The Secondary Parents Group report indicates that parents believe Andover secondary schools are by and large meeting their educational expectations. Some parents gave the system high marks for such programs as "Choice not Chance."

At the same time, parents were critical of certain aspects of the school sys-

Then came the Vietnam War and a mixture of recent high school graduates and men returning from one or two tours of duty. The vets, Sullivan said, were "mature and had more definition of what they wanted out of the program. The young people just out of high school haven't really done that yet. Education does go through phases."

But Sullivan hasn't been the prototypical academic—sheltered from "real world" goings-on. For the past 35 years, he's also been an engineering consultant. The cases—some of which bring him into the courtroom—involve accident and fire investigations, both industrial and private. He said his consulting and teaching jobs complemented each other.

"I could show my students the effects of poor design," he said. The consulting also taught the professor himself a few lessons. "You broaden your knowledge of building codes."

Now that he's no longer in the classroom, Sullivan spends his time with his family—wife Joan, who taught nursing at Northern Essex until 1980, and their six children and seven grandchildren. He would also like to do some traveling, maybe returning to Ireland, where he spent a semester as a guest professor at a commercial school near Limerick.

"I will keep my contacts; I have a lot of friends (at Northern Essex)," Sullivan said. "That's the problem when you retire, you miss that daily contact."

"I'm going to miss the teaching aspects, but I'm enjoying the release from having committed times to do things."

Lentz is a pure center who led St. Mary's in scoring (15 ppg.) and rebounding (10 rpg.) this past winter. A three-year starter in the pivot, she was instrumental in leading St. Mary's to a 14-6 record and the state tournament. Lentz was twice named a Lawrence Eagle Tribune all-star and this past winter garnered Catholic Conference all-star accolades. She also lettered in track and volleyball.

Deyermund is another hard-working forward who Cogan expects to make immediate contributions next season.

ENTERTAINMENT

THE TOWNSMAN, AUGUST 4, 1988

Andover Musicians Busy

The Purple Stars Sound is one busy band this month.

The year-old local group will find itself in Derry, N.H., tonight and Boston Saturday and has several other appearances set up.

The Sound will be opening for Hot Tuna at The Channel in Boston Saturday night.

Hot Tuna was formed in 1970 by former Jefferson Airplane members Jorma Kaukonen and Jack Cassidy.

"I'm excited," said Mark Patrick Page of Kirkland Drive, Purple Stars Sound guitarist and vocalist. Page said he and fellow band member Russ Brooks of Lowell Street met Kaukonen during a Hot Tuna performance at the Paradise in Boston this spring.

"He said he'd be willing to help us out," Page said. Kaukonen invited Page's band to open for Hot Tuna at The Channel and at an upcoming gig at Club Casino in Hampton.

It's tough being the opening act, but Page says he has a strategy. "I'm going to be really warm to them (the audience) and just tell them, 'Hi, we're the Purple Stars Sound and we're going to play some music and hopefully you'll dig it.'"

Besides Page, members of the Sound are Brooks, guitar and vocals; Amy Cooper and Shorey Walker, vocals; Chris Kew and Joe Ward, bass; Matt Persing, drums; and Ken Murphy, lead guitar.

The group plays what they call "psychedelic rock"—mostly covers of '60s tunes like "White Rabbit" by Jefferson Airplane, "Goin' Down the Road" by the Grateful Dead and "For Your Love" by the Yardbirds. The Sound also has a few originals in its repertoire.

"The scene that we're into is the whole late '60s San Francisco scene, which was spearheaded by the Grateful Dead and Jefferson Airplane," Page said.

The Sound will be in concert in McGregor Park in Derry, N.H., tonight from 7 to 9 and in the park in front of Andover's town offices on Aug. 17 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Both are free.

"Am I having a nervous tension fit?" said Page, referring to all the gigs he's lined up for the band. "Yes. But it keeps you going; I love it."

Trends in Kitchen and Bath Design

by Kevin Hennessey and Sean Walsh

THE SYNTHETIC MARBLE MARVEL

Marble may supply an aristocratic touch to kitchens and baths, but this beauty comes at a relatively high cost. Manufacturers, therefore, have developed a high-density surface material that is often referred to as synthetic marble. This material comes in a variety of thicknesses and lengths that make it ideal for countertops, tub surrounds, and shower enclosures. It can be cut with carbide-tipped tools to give countertops custom-sculpted edges. As with marble, the vein patterns and color run through the entire thickness of the material. In addition, it is more durable and less costly to install than marble. Synthetic marble is non-porous, unlike real marble, and thus resists stains. Scratches can be removed with fine abrasive powder. In all, synthetic marble keeps its look without the pampering its aristocratic cousin requires.

Such a material is invaluable in the kitchen as well as the bath. Its beauty and durability make it the perfect addition to either room. Here at VARIATIONS III, INC., the latest design ideas for today's kitchens and baths are readily available. Give us a call at 685-4056 to discuss your requirements. Creating efficient, functional and beautiful kitchens and baths are what we are about. Our showroom will give you the opportunity to see cabinetry crafted for its beauty, ease of maintenance and affordable prices. Our designers will explain construction features, finishes, woods and laminates, etc. Look for us at 2370 Torpik St., Route 114. To reach us, call 685-4056.

Tribute To Women At Festival

The Bread & Roses Heritage Committee announced that Ferron, Odetta and On the Line will be among the featured artists at the fourth annual Bread & Roses Labor Day Heritage Festival as a tribute to the Lawrence women who changed the course of women's activism in America. Polish women weavers led the workers of Lawrence on an historic strike in January of 1912. After ten weeks of struggle and sacrifice, wages and working conditions throughout New England and the nation were improved. Union organizer "Big Bill" Haywood declared, "the women won the strike." This year's festival theme is taken from the song Bread & Roses which sums up the events in 1912 by stating that the "rising of the women is the rising of us all."

The Bread & Roses Festival builds upon the 1912 workers' examples of activism, multi-ethnic cooperation, women's equality and devotion to children. Festivities will begin with a women's procession and living history at 10:30 a.m. Seven 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. stages and four workshop areas will feature topical, labor oriented, children's, traditional and ethnic performers. A concert will be held on the banks of the Merrimack River at 4:45 p.m. and end shortly before 10 p.m. with the Greater/Lawrence Haverhill Central Labor Council's traditional fireworks display.

A leader within the Women's Music Community, Ferron will be a part of the concert and will headline this stage during the afternoon. Boston music critic Brett Milano said of Ferron, "She plays acoustic music with a rocker's energy" and singled out her "remarkable voice, which could be raspy and tough or sink into a vulnerable whisper." A Canadian-born singer/songwriter, Ferron started writing at age 11 and was influenced by the moodier "mysterious" writing styles of Leonard Cohen, Neil Young and Joni Mitchell. "Testimony" and "Shadows on a Dime," two of her most recent albums, have established her as an important writer with critics favorably comparing her to the young Bob Dylan. The amusing and provocative social commentaries of Christine Lavin will also be featured on the women's afternoon stage and evening stage. According to Washington, D.C., critic Lou Forni, this young singer/songwriter "is without doubt the funniest musical performer to emerge in two decades." Marcia Taylor, the Short Sisters and other will also perform.

The ethnic arts stages and workshop areas will feature a wide range of ethnic performances, dance workshops and crafts demonstrations. The area will be headlined by Odetta. The group Flor de Cana and approximately 30 other ethnic artists will perform, a majority of them drawn from the talented and culturally diverse population of Greater Lawrence. Odetta was selected as part of the state's commemoration of the 350th anniversary of Black settlement in Massachusetts. A dynamic force in the American folk music scene for more than 25 years, Odetta, born in Birmingham, Ala., has performed the world over from Europe to Japan and Africa to Israel. The New York Times said, "In the tradition of American folk song Odetta accompanies herself on a guitar—'my baby,' as she calls it—cradling it in her arms. But her voice has a depth and range that fills out soft timbres, gives rich resonance to her low notes and rises to a powerful cutting edge."

The labor stage will present songs and stories of the American worker and will feature On the Line, eastern Massachusetts' first women's labor union chorus. In describing the Great Strike of 1912, historian William Cahn said, "It was a new kind of strike. A singing strike." When a group of women labor organizers and union members formed On the Line several years ago, their goal was "...to bring music back into the labor movement." The labor stage will also feature "labor's troubadour" Joe Glazer, Shay's Rebellion, Sharon Kennedy and Fred Small.

The children's stage will include such well-known performers as Cathy Fink, Judith Black and Kim Wallach. Jackson Street will be filled with clowns, jugglers, mimes and others. In keeping with the festival's philosophy of encouraging community participation, there will also be opportunities for children to do things.

The Lawrence Heritage State Park Visitors' center on Jackson Street will host a juried art show, "Merrimack Valley Artists See Lawrence," which will include the paintings of 17 area artists. The show is organized and sponsored by the Immigrant City Archives. The visitors' center's permanent exhibits on the "City of Workers" and the "Bread and Roses Strike" will be open all day. Ralph Fasanella's famous painting "Lawrence 1912; Bread & Roses Strike" is the center's newest addition. Last spring the Bread & Roses Heritage Committee joined with the Heritage State Park to purchase the painting and then gave its share to the City of Lawrence.

Northern Essex Awarded Grant

Northern Essex Community College was recently awarded a United States Department of Education: Student Support Services Program Grant for the eighth consecutive time.

The $100,509 grant is to be used in developing a program to assist 200 Northern Essex students who are low-income individuals, first-generation college students or physically disabled.

The program will be administered through the Northern Essex Academic Support Center and will supplement the center's existing services. Participants will receive services in areas such as on-going tutorial support.

Support Group Meets

A women's recovery support group is offered by the outpatient department of Mount Pleasant Hospital in Lynn every Monday evening from 6 to 7:30 p.m. for women who are recovering or trying to recover from alcohol or drug abuse.

The group deals with special problems that women face in their daily lives that are crucial to their sobriety, such as work and family and relationships.

Vincent Morton

Vincent P. Morton Sr., 89, of Port St. Lucie, Fla., who founded Morton Warehouse Corp. and followed the Red Sox in good times and bad, died Thursday, July 28, 1988, at his home in Port St. Lucie.

Mr. Morton was formerly of North Scituate. A true Red Sox fan, he stayed up during the past week until 11 p.m. to watch their winning streak.

Born in Jamaica Plain, Mr. Morton was educated at Boston English High, Boston University and the Bentley School of Accounting.

Mr. Morton's early days in business were in automobile sales and management with Locomobile and Packard.

For a brief term during World War II, he served with the Office of Price Administration. The OPA, a government agency, set prices for articles that were in demand to make sure they were not being overpriced.

Mr. Morton moved to Lowell in 1949 and founded Curran-Morton of Lowell, Inc. A few years later, he founded Morton Warehouse Corp. in Nashua, N.H., and Lawrence, Mass. He served as president, treasurer and chairman until his retirement. His sons now run the company; Vincent Jr. is president and David is vice-president.

At one time, Mr. Morton operated more than 1.5 million square feet of warehouse space between his businesses in Lowell and Lawrence. It is a public warehouse and distribution organization. The firm stores a company's product and ships it out for them when needed.

When he first went to Lowell, Mr. Morton met Walter F. Connor, 86. They became golf buddies and have maintained a close friendship through the years.

They usually played golf at the Vesper Country Club, where they were both members.

William Levine, 87, is another friend golf partner. Mr. Levine's handicap was 20, and he remembered that Mr. Morton's was a little less.

Mr. Morton was active in the community for many years. He was a past member of Bon Secours Men's Guild and the Men of Merrimack. In 1960, he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree by Merrimack College.

Mr. Morton was past president of the Massachusetts Warehousemen's Association and past director of the Union National Bank of Lowell. He was also director of the Vesper Country Club and Hatherly Country Club. He was a member of the Yorick Club, a men's eating club that was in Lowell, and the Lanam Club in Andover, as well as the Algonquin Club and Beacon Society in Boston.

He enjoyed the Clover Club, a group of people of Irish ancestry who gather in Boston.

Before moving to Florida in 1978, Mr. Morton was active at Immaculate Conception Church in Lowell. He was also a member of the Society of Catholic Laymen in that city.

Members of his family include his wife, Grace (Lamb) Morton; daughters, Elaine Murphy of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Joan McDonald of Cohasset; sons, Vincent P., Jr. and David L., both of Andover; 24 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

A Mass was said Monday morning at St. Anthony Church in Cohasset.

A private burial followed in St. Joseph Cemetery in West Roxbury.

Contributions may be made to South Shore Hospice, c/o South Shore Hospital, South Weymouth, Mass. 02190.

Eleanor M. Bell

Many years ago she worked for Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., an accounting firm in Boston.

She was born in Lynn, the daughter of Marguerite V. (Mattocks) Reid of Lynn and the late Macmillan Reid. She attended Lynn schools and was a 1956 graduate of Lynn English High School. She attended Simmons and Burdett colleges.

Mrs. Bell lived in Lynn most of her life and in Peabody for 10 years. She attended Our Lady of the Assumption Church in Lynnfield.

tem. In reading the quotations contained in the report, the impression is that the parents had been thoughtful, constructive and insightful in their comments about the schools, Salazar said.

Copies of the full report are available at the business office on the second floor of the School Administration Building. In addition, a reference copy of the report is available for review at Memorial Hall Library.

In their presentation of the report to the School Committee, representatives of the Secondary Parents Group indicated that many of the ideas suggested by parents in the survey will form the basis of its work next school year. Members of the School Committee recommended that a meeting be set up in September with school administrators and parents so that the survey results can be discussed.

Area Businesses Ready For New Area Code

By Julie M. Barry

There's no longer just two area codes in Massachusetts. Residents must think twice before calling many surrounding communities because the area code change became effective July 16.

The change took place because "we're simply running out of telephone numbers," said associate director of public relations at New England Telephone, David Ravanese. He added that there would be less than 40,000 available numbers at the end of the year if the new area code wasn't implemented. "This was a necessary change," he said.

The new code, 508, frees up numbers. "It doubles the capacity of numbers in Massachusetts," Ravanese said.

Andover, like many other cities and towns in Massachusetts, has been assigned a 508 area code to replace the former 617 designation. Route 128 served as the boundary for the change on the eastern part of the state.

North Reading, Wilmington and Billerica are local towns that form the boundary and even though places like Reading and Burlington are close by, you must dial 617 before the number.

There are 2 million people with the 617 area code and 1.3 million with the 508 code, Ravanese said.

There is no cost factor involved in the change. Calling Boston or other communities in the 617 area code will still cost the same amount. "The only inconvenience, if you want to call it that, is dialing more numbers," Ravanese said.

It's still possible to place telephone calls across the 617/508 area code boundaries by simply dialing 1 before the number.

But this "permissive period" will only last three months. Starting Oct. 14, if you forget to dial the proper area code, a recording will inform you to re-dial the correct code. This recording will be in effect for one year, until October '89.

Local businesses have had to respond to the change. Business cards and stationery letterheads had to be revised to reflect the new area code.

Eagle Tribune Printing in North Andover handles a lot of local accounts, and sales manager Ronald Black said "we have done a lot of reprinting."

But, he said the customers are taking it in stride. "I haven't heard any complaints," added Black.

Black says his company notified their customers about the change in advance. This gave them ample time to let their supply of letterhead stationery and business cards dwindle before reordering. That way, he said, it was time to reorder anyway.

And there hasn't been a marked increase in the amount of business at Eagle Tribune Printing because they have been working on reprinting since the spring, Black said.

Not all businesses were so foresighted. In some cases, Black said, the area code change and reprinting has brought in some extra dollars. But for the most part, companies planned ahead and the change hasn't been a problem.

New England Telephone also gave customers early notification of the change.

Ravanese said the phone company knew in 1985 that the change would be forthcoming if the growth in Massachusetts continued. An increase in the number of FAX machines, cellular phones and high tech industries in the state has placed a large demand on telephone numbers, he said.

In view of this, New England Telephone started informing the public of the new code in 1986 via bill inserts, newspaper, radio and cable television advertising and articles in newspapers and business publications.

Part of the rationale for the early alert was to give businesses enough time to prepare for the change and to let supplies dwindle.

This has been a costly venture for New England Telephone. According to Ravanese, it spent $11 million on the change—$9 million was used for technology and $2 million for promotions. And he said at least another $10 million was used for directory changes.

All the pre-planning and hard work has paid off. "Everything is going smoothly—without a glitch so far," Ravanese said.

Ballard Vale United Welcomes Its First Woman Pastor

By Julie M. Barry

Sunday service at Ballard Vale United Church will feature something new this week—the Rev. Susan Morrison.

The new pastor will preside over the service and give her first sermon to church members.

Although Morrison admits she hasn't had the opportunity to personally meet very many parishioners, she said "the part of the congregation I have met seem to be very caring." And she says she's enthusiastic to begin her work in Andover.

"This church has an incredible reputation," said Morrison, noting their commitment, unity, stewardship and compassion for others. "It's a very fine congregation and I look forward to greeting and meeting the members here."

In addition to her involvement with the church, Morrison says she's eager to get involved in the community and its social concerns.

Morrison is the first woman to be appointed pastor at the Ballardvale church, but she says that hasn't been a problem. "I sense no prejudice and have been graciously received," she said.

And she noted that more and more women are being ordained. As a matter of fact, Morrison pointed out that a woman, who is also named Susan Morrison, was just appointed a bishop. But, she said laughing, "I am only the pastor, not the bishop."

The Rev. Susan Morrison will preach her first sermon as pastor of Ballard Vale United Church Sunday.

Morrison's appointment as pastor became effective Aug. 1. She's replacing the Rev. Gary Cornell, the church's pastor for the past six years, who was appointed to a West Chelmsford church.

Appointments are made by the bishop on a yearly basis. "The bishop (George Bashore) tries to match the gifts and graces of the pastor with the needs and ministry of the local parish," Morrison said. If it's a good match, the appoint-

Parents Say Schools Should Give More Attention To Basics

Parents of secondary school students in Andover say basic skills like reading, writing and science are not emphasized enough in their curriculum, according to a recent survey.

The Secondary Parents Group questionnaire was sent in February to 1,671 households in Andover with at least one child in West or Doherty middle schools or Andover High School during the 1987-'88 school year.

Statistics were gathered on responses to specific survey questions on curriculum, student placement, budget, communications and after-school activities.

A total of 486 questionnaires were completed and processed by a subgroup of the Secondary Parents Group. The return rate of 29 percent is a good one, according to Andy Salazar, the group's co-chairman. Salazar said Andover's return rate is even more significant since parents had to devote 15 to 45 minutes to complete the questionnaire.

Many respondents wrote that there is a need to challenge the student more in creativity, verbal skills and in the development of the social being, the group reported.

In terms of communications, parents would like to see more information on curriculum, student placement and academic goals. They said they'd also like more specifics on their children's activities. Parents endorsed phone contact with teachers as well as school meetings at night.

The average student was the concern of many parents. It is perceived that less support or guidance is given to the average student, whereas the problem child, the gifted, the athletic and socially active all receive a disproportionate share of adult attention in school.

Community service programs and a teen center were heavily favored by respondents. Parents would also like to see a successful intramural program for those not participating in scholastic sports.

Many parents said there is a moderate to significant problem in teenage use of drugs and alcohol in the town of Andover.

According to the survey results most parents believe that addi-

Two children board a Department of Community Services bus that was supposed to be headed to Hampton Beach last week. But the 70 kids who were scheduled to go were forced to stay in Andover because of the rainy weather.

Jen Richardson gives Christie Cunningham and Stephanie Ciampa a much needed hug after they found out the beach trip was postponed.

Bernadette Vajda applies some first aid to Stephanie Ciampa.

Tara Locke and Kristin Kozat have a quiet chat while DCS counselors decide where to take the two bus loads of kids.

After the rain stopped and the sun broke through, the kids were brought to Poms Pond where Arells Pena gave her friend Juan Yagual a ride through the warm but refreshing pond water.

Warm and muggy weather made Poms Pond the perfect place to beat the heat.

The rain was soon forgotten once everyone arrived at Doherty Junior High School and started playing games, the most favored being dodge ball.

Bernadette Vajda sets up a shot for her teammate during a strenuous game of volleyball.

Lofly Goals

School Committeeman Michael Frishman outlined his goals to his colleagues at a meeting of the school committee a week ago.

Some of the suggested areas of importance to Frishman would appear to fall into the category of being somewhat lofty goals.

At the outset, Frishman suggests the school committee members be a part of a subcommittee structure, which is an acceptable alignment for those on the board.

But, in addition to this, the newest school committee member suggests holding office hours and being in attendance at meetings of various groups whose intent is on the improvement of Andover education, such as PTA groups, parent advisory groups, etc.

While this may be excellent ideas, it should also be taken into consideration that school committee attendance in itself is time consuming and adding to it such things as attendance at other meetings and conducting office hours, would seem a bit more demanding. Offering to serve on the school committee and seeking the office through the elective process should be sufficient to satisfy the public service aspect.

A good suggestion made by Frishman is one which provides the school committee with more time to act on granting of tenure to teachers.

Tenure has always been a controversial issue. There should be sufficient time reviewing the abilities of the educator before actually granting that person a lifetime job.

And, while the school committee has the final approval on such matters, it is hoped that Frishman is not suggesting that the actual review of the tenure candidate be in the hands of anyone other than the superintendent or a professional educator for final recommendation.

Frishman also wants the school committee to be involved with the planning of the human services council, the teen center, school-based after school activities, adult literacy programs and SHED perpetuation.

Some of these items are within the planning process of the school committee's regular agenda. But, again, they would seem to be in the realm of time-consuming proposals which could tend to impede the normal functions of the school board.

Basically it seems appropriate that Frishman has taken the time to tell his colleagues about his hopes for accomplishment during his three-year term on the board.

But it is to be hoped that their presentation was based on utopian principals and not as hard and fast recommendations to be followed.

Just A Thought
By Bob Finneran

Hesitate to mention this in a town like Andover because selectmen and other administrators jump at any revenue producing ideas.

But, a Boston man has apparently blanketed newspapers throughout the Commonwealth with the suggestion that to make up for the loss in local aid through state budget cuts, towns and cities should be allowed to impose a local tobacco tax which would offset the loss of state funds.

Tom Alciere, the Boston author of the letter, feels that such a tax by local cities and towns would satisfy two things, one offsetting the deficit caused by the budget cuts and also compelling cigarette smokers to 'pay for their own sickening vice.'

Here in Andover one could see the selectmen jumping on this one in a hurry.

After all, they have set fees on just about every public service with the exception of the public safety department.

Conceivably the town could apply a nickel assessment on regular cigarettes, a dime on the filtered 100s and maybe 15 to 20 cents on mentholated brands. The proceeds from such taxes could possibly be assigned to the health department just to prove a point.

When the Massachusetts budget came up short, it became necessary for the governor who would be President, Dukakis, to come up with the necessary funds.

The gov and his staff must have been examining the Andover municipal management technique, because they proceeded to increase fees on pretty nearly everything available and where there wasn't a fee previously, there is now.

Some examples include increasing court costs, including small claims court; increased motor vehicle fees, such as licenses, registrations, etc., and a new method of assessing fines for speeding. There is no longer a flat fee. Violators will now be fined on the basis of how far in excess of the speed zone they were travelling.

With the exception of the motor vehicle items, Andover has been doing this for years, imposing fees on all sorts of services once enjoyed through the auspices of annual tax payments. The governor, whose eyes have been on the White House rather than on the Commonwealth, has just borrowed another $200 million which carries with it a $1.5 million interest rate, in order to get the state financially sound.

He has successfully transformed an approximately half-billion dollar surplus into a $400,000 million deficit in a few short years.

Makes you kind of wonder what he might do should he go to Washington and attempt to manage the trillions that flow through the coffers there.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — August 1888

Town Clerk Putnam distributed the tax bills in the vicinity of the office on Wednesday, Aug. 1, and Robert Callahan has since taken them through the rest of the Centre district. Of course, everybody knows that six percent will be saved by paying the tax on or before September 1.

Mr. Frank O. Baldwin, sometime principal of the Lynn High School and later Superintendent of Schools in that city, has been elected principal of the Punchard Free School and has accepted the position.

The new school house is going up fast — the roof is being put in today.

We learn that William F. Richardson has sold to Mrs. R.A. Carter, the house adjoining hers on Salem Street, for $3,000.

There are two Chinese scholars in the South church sabbath school.

The Marland Mills will shut down Saturday to allow all hands to go to the picnic.

The local campaign on the democratic side opens under most favorable omens. A rope was stretched early in the week from Bradley's store to the Russell Block, in readiness for the Cleveland and Thurman flag, and weighted over the centre of the street by a tailor's goose.

A beautiful night-blooming cereus, belonging to Miss Abby Clement, was on exhibition at Mr. Edward Taylor's. The flower was of extraordinary size and the second which has appeared on the plant this season.

75 Years Ago — August 1913

Andover storekeepers will be interested to know that sufficient time having been given the dealers to prepare to meet the terms of the law and the regulations of the state board of health, the board is now ready to enforce the new act requiring that the cold storage eggs offered for sale at retail shall be displayed under signs plainly telling what they are or in containers plainly labelled with large letters, "Cold Storage Eggs."

James Dick of Crowley & Company's drug store, leaves town tomorrow for a two weeks' vacation at the Andover Lawrence cottage at York beach.

There was a large attendance at the Band concert in the Park Wednesday evening when the Andover Brass Band made its first appearance in the new stand.

John H. Playdon, the well-known florist, left town on Tuesday for Nova Scotia where he will spend several weeks. During his absence his store in the Arco building will be closed.

On Saturday afternoon on the Playstead the Royals and the Elks will play their first game of the season. There is a great deal of rivalry between these two local teams and the game is sure to be full of thrills.

Mrs. Beatrice Glover of North Andover, has accepted the position of stenographer for Meyerscough & Buchan in their new garage.

Miss Mary F. Riley of the Andover Press is enjoying a three weeks' vacation in Richmond, Maine.

Irving Mason of Providence, R.I. is spending the week with Miss Elizabeth Cole of Elm street.

Rev. George F. Crediford of Haverhill will occupy the pulpit of the Free church on next Sunday morning.

Officer George Dufton, one of the civil service appointees doing substitute duty this summer, underwent an initiation on Tuesday morning, and when he has finished his fellow officers and superiors realized that they had an A-1 police officer in the new addition to the force.

Fires were lighted in the new boiler at the pumping station on Tuesday, in order to dry it out. The Board of Public Works inspected it and found everything satisfactory and ready to operate.

A few changes have been made by the selectmen in the list of precinct officers this year. Percy Holt has been moved from precinct six to precinct two, taking the place of school bus-driver Chester Abbott in two. Carl Lindsay has been appointed to Holt's place in six.

Several candidates for Republican nominations will speak tonight at a meeting of the Young Republican club to be held in the Male Choir rooms in the National Bank building. The principal speaker will be county commissioner and moderator Fred Butler, first Andover and first Essex county candidate for governor in many years.

Warren Gauthier, runner-up last year, won the Greater Lawrence Junior tennis title at Balmoral tennis courts yesterday afternoon, defeating Gerald Lenane 6-4, 6-0.

The Free church Field Day at the cricket field Saturday will start about 1:30.

George Flint of Bailey Road had his slumbers disturbed last Friday morning when a bolt of lightning shot along the electric wires through the window panes into his room. Some of the flying glass landed in his bed, one piece against his arm, and in all probability he received a slight shock in the same arm, for it was numb the next morning.

25 Years Ago — August 1963

The town's net expense for the proposed sewer extension is about $500,000 — actually less than one-third of the total cost of the construction.

The Andover Summer School is now in session for the fourth consecutive year.

The town's tree and park departments may eventually be joined; to create one larger force.

The town's much-publicized population boom may actually be only a tiny pop. Statistics for 1962, based on comparisons with the 1963 street listing, show only a net gain of 43 adults last year, although there was a lot of moving around. Town Clerk Irving O. Piper, in compiling figures, counted only adults — not children.

A special town meeting will be held at Memorial Auditorium Aug. 14 to act on the sewer extension project, for which a federal grant of $839,500 has been offered. Voters of the town will be asked to approve the construction, and appropriate $879,500 as the town's share of the project.

The sixth annual music festival and piano workshop of the American Matthey Association will be held at Phillips Academy for a week starting Friday.

A giant cement truck tipped over on Route 133, at the driveway to the Rolling Green Motor Inn. Police said the truck started to skid, the driver swerved to avoid cars stopped in the street and then slid broadside into an electric pole.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff wants townspeople to contribute $150,000 for two swimming pools, which would become town-owned and operated.

10 Years Ago — August 1978

As a result of complaints received regarding stable operations by Mohammed Khuroo of Jenkins Road, selectmen this week requested the town manager to direct the building inspector to issue cease and desist orders to operators of stables in violation of the zoning bylaws.

The Finance Committee will be requested to transfer $3,500 from the reserve fund to provide for maintenance of the Sacred Heart fields this fall.

The capital outlay budget recently approved by Gov. Michael Dukakis, provided funds for the purchase by the state of some 60 or more acres of land bordering the Harold Parker State Forest in Andover. Rep. Gerald Cohen of Andover reported that $200,000 was contained in the budget for the acquisition of the Pettigrew land.

Richard Nabydowski of Andover will be the new contractor for picking up recyclable material.

Work is well underway on the $3.5 million in improvements to physical education facilities at Phillips Academy. Expansion of the gym, construction of an enclosed bridge to the Case cage and an addition for women's phys. ed facilities are part of the overall project which started a year ago with renovation of the cage.

Selectmen have registered their opposition to proposed altering of Partridge Hill development to permit Belmont park subdivision to be created.

Former Selectman Philip J. Salamone of Carisbrook Street has been appointed a member of the Recreation/Community Schools committee.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark Monday night was prepared to ask the selectmen to approve the $40 adjustment on water bills sent to Shawsheen residents affected by poor water quality problems this past year. The matter had been proposed at a meeting with residents a few weeks ago.

Frishman Outlines Goals

In his fourth month as a member of the School Committee, Michael Frishman, the newest member, made his opening statement at a July 22 meeting. The majority of his observations revolved around the procedural policies of the school committee meetings and specific areas of concern he wished to pursue during his three year term.

Frishman commented on three general areas:

- Committee organization, practices — He made several recommendations including the implementation of a subcommittee structure, holding office hours and attending meetings, such as the Parent/Teacher Organizations, Parent Advisory Committee, Andover Education Association and the various student councils.

Spending more time and discussion on tenure votes was another idea Frishman conveyed.

- Long-term or ongoing areas of interest — Frishman says it's necessary to be forward looking in the areas of teacher assignment, development, reward and advancement, as well as, administrative structure, incentives and review.

Making the gifted and talented program a part of the statewide definition of special education and keeping up with legislation that affects this area is something Frishman wants to be involved with.

A review and update of the Policy Manual was also mentioned by Frishman.

- Miscellaneous committee initiatives/collaborative efforts — He would like the School Committee to cooperate in the planning of the human services council, the teen center, school-based after school programs, adult literacy programs, and SHED perpetuation.

While noting that some of his observations may already be a part of School Committee activities, Frishman did want to note the topics he hopes to discuss and/or accomplish during his term.

Committee chairman Donald Robb said Frishman raised some interesting points and that as they became appropriate, the committee would try to implement his suggestions.

Pastor

ment usually lasts for about six to 10 years before the pastor is moved elsewhere, she added.

Itinerancy, moving a pastor from church to church, is part of the policy of the United Methodist system, Morrison explained.

The Ballard Vale United Church is a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation.

Theologically, the two traditions are very similar, and Morrison is very familiar with both. She was ordained in the United Methodist Church but she grew up in the Congregational tradition, United Church of Christ. "So, I bring a marriage of the two traditions," she said. "I think that's something special I bring to this ministry—my love of both traditions."

Currently there are about 200 members of the church, and Morrison said that continual growth is one of the church's goals. "The United Methodist Church prides itself on pluralism—a variety of people, ages and beliefs that can be together in one community, and I look forward to continue to nurture that," she said.

She and her husband, Jay, and their three children, Nancy, Rebecca and Jeremy, currently live in Danvers. They will be moving to Andover at the end of August and will reside in the church parsonage on Hall Avenue.

Ballard Vale United Church will formally welcome the Morrison family on Rally Day, Sept. 11. "It's an installation of me as their pastor and a celebration of the ministry at Ballard Vale," she said.

Morrison has been the associate pastor at Holy Trinity United Methodist Church in Danvers for the past seven years. Prior to going into the ministry, she was a special education teacher.

"My 10 years in special education has had a tremendous impact on the ministry," she said. Morrison said she enjoys working with the disabled. She was involved with a head- and brain-injured support group and was on the board of directors of the Independent Living Center of the North Shore, an advocacy group for the severely disabled.

"As a pastor, I have a passion for social justice issues, for the oppressed and for those who are in need," Morrison said.

Gillette, Coniston In Settlement

The Gillette Company and the Coniston Group announced an agreement to settle the pending lawsuit in Federal District Court in Boston resulting from the proxy contest earlier this year involving four seats on the 12-member Gillette board.

Gillette and Coniston concluded that settlement at this time is in the best interests of Gillette stockholders and all concerned. Gillette and Coniston believe the settlement is appropriate due to the expense and uncertainty of continuing litigation, including probable appeals, and of the possibility of another proxy contest, if ordered by the court. In the lawsuit, no final judgment has been made or remedy ordered.

It was also announced that, in connection with the settlement, the Gillette board has authorized the issuance to all stockholders of one share repurchase right for each seven shares of Gillette stock held. Each share repurchase right would entitle the rightholder pursuant to the terms of the rights to sell to Gillette one share of its common stock at a price of $45 per share. All stockholders are treated equally and will receive the same benefits under the program.

The total number of shares expected to be purchased pursuant to the share repurchase rights would be about 16 million of the approximately 112 million shares outstanding at a total cost of $720 million. The share repurchase rights will be distributed to all stockholders of record as of August 12, 1988, and are presently planned to expire on September 19, 1988.

Stockholders who choose to retain their stock may elect to sell their share repurchase rights for cash, as the rights will be transferable. Stockholders who choose to exercise the share repurchase rights and sell a portion of their shares may do so by selling the shares back to the company at the $45 price. The distribution of the share repurchase rights is conditioned on the Gillette board receiving satisfactory opinions that the repurchase of Gillette stock will not impair Gillette's capital as defined under Delaware law and will be in accordance with other legal requirements. In the opinion of the company and its investment banker, Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, the new repurchase program would not materially affect Gillette's financial ability to conduct its business or pursue its strategic business plan.

Gillette stated that under the company's current strategic business plan, the repurchase of stock under the share repurchase rights program should result in little change in the rate of earnings per share growth over the next 18 months and an increase in earnings per share growth above the present plan after that time. No change in the current dividend is planned as a result of the repurchase program and the board will consider increases from time to time in the future, as it has in the past.

Gillette has agreed, with respect to certain confidentiality agreements entered into in November 1986 and September 1987, not to enforce those provisions of the agreements which prevent for two years the purchases of, or offers to purchase, Gillette stock.

Coniston has agreed not to purchase significant additional amounts of Gillette shares, participate in any proxy contest or stockholder consent solicitation or to otherwise seek control of, or influence Gillette for three years. Paul E. Tierney, Jr., a general partner of Coniston, said, "We believe this settlement at this time is in the best interests of all concerned."

Colman M. Mockler, Jr., Gillette chairman and chief executive officer, said, "The board of directors agree that the settlement and the new stock repurchase program are in the best interest of all stockholders. As in the past, the board will continue to consider fully and fairly all proposals or other alternatives to maximize stockholder value."

Bancorp Declares Dividend

The board of directors of Andover Bancorp, Inc. (NASDAQ:ANDB) recently declared a quarterly dividend of 18 cents per share payable September 9, 1988, to shareholders of record at the close of business on August 12.

This quarterly dividend represents the eighth consecutive dividend to be paid since the Andover Savings Bank converted from a mutual to a stock form of savings bank on May 8, 1986. Andover Savings Bank reorganized into a bank holding company on November 2, 1987.

Andover Savings Bank is a Massachusetts chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover.

John Ho of Chelmsford gets a lesson in Kung Fu, which was one of the many classes offered during a three-week intensive learning program called Kaleidoscope. The program was sponsored in part by the Department of Community Services.

There was something for everyone who attended the three-week long course; age had no bearing as each activity was split into different age groups. Above, Stephanie Varley and Rebbecca Hellman participate in "Movin' and Groovin'," a class which combines music and physical education into two half-morning activities.

Evelyn Wrobel shows these kids that computers can be fun. The young hackers are getting hands-on experience by playing computer games. Pictured at left are Kealy O'Connor, Elizabeth Bradshaw, Brenna O'Connor and Leah Perry.

Laura Goldstein puts the finishing touches on her cloud drawing by attaching cotton balls in the appropriate places. The class is called weather wisdom, and it teaches children some pretty basic things about a not-so-basic topic.

At The Playgrounds

Bancroft: The fifth week at Bancroft Playground started with a trip to Water Country enjoyed by Brandy and Bridget Cruwys, Ali Bicknell, Michelle Dalton and Stephen Mackey. Jimmy Noonan, Erin O'Brien and Tracey Geldart made pom-pom people on Tuesday. The beach trip on Wednesday was rained out, but Jennifer Ortiz, Stephanie Brown, Tammy Taggart, Brent Sheehan and Matt Trede had fun anyway at dooherty. Squirrel gun fights went on all week between Kristy, Keith and Timmy Lynch, Scott and Brian DeCourcy and Danny Piercy. The pet show on Thursday brought out Natalie and Emily Shearer's dog Liberty, Margaret Adams' dog Fresca, Kaitlin Kessler's toad, Megan Roth's gerbil, Ashley and Allen Mackey's hamsters. Matt and David Chapin, Brian Licata, Rachel Geldart, Mary Beth Noonan and Jennifer and Chris Lane enjoyed pizza day.

Sanborn: Monday's trip to Water Country was a big success. Elaine Yee dared to go down the Geronimo and her brother, Justin, lived the dive slide. It looked like Tommy Clarke found a new home in the water pool. Thursday's pet show was great. Erin McConville's bear, Lilac, was the cuddliest; Karen Tessier's monkey, Monk, the most talkative; Maura McConville's dog, Wrinkles, the sweetest and Tina Carruson's monkey, Suckey, the cutest. Lindsey Shide and Elizabeth Couture decided to be the cuddly kittens, Luv and Hug. A lot happened in crafts; Heather Tessier and Anne Marie Hussey have a collection of bracelets and Amanda Firicano made an adorable pom-pom person and everyone did lots of gym. Michael Couture and Renny Schofield wanted thirds on pizza day.

South: After two rain-outs we finally made it to Water Country. The wave pool and water slide were the most enjoyable. Colleen Sheehy, Marc Escott, Abbi Hermose, Katie Terrier, Jessica Chernicki, Rocky Tradd, Jennifer Brooks, Jaclyn Ewcott and Ian Mooney were some of the kids who went. There was an all-playground day at Doherty Junior High School gym on Wednesday. It was great fun participating in games and races with members of all the playgrounds. Shira Hermose, Paul Sibille, Meghan Lynch, Rebecca Parks, Susie Burns, Julie Burns, Lynn Mazza and Jessica Chernicki led South to a victory in the leap frog relay.

West: The week started with a splash at Water Country. Stuart, Emily and Hilary Winters, Christine Durant, Beth Carriere, Kara Coppola, Amy Cohen, Michael Dowd and many others took the plunge, rode the waves and had some fun. Ross Austin and Jason Pratt went down Geronimo 10 times each. The entire playground got into a kickball game on Tuesday. Brian Tisbert, Chris Kearns, Amy Wilkins, Greg Peters and Ronnie Hancock were among the star players. Lindsey Carr, Deana Gray, Lindsey Bates and counselor Christine made pom-pom people. There was a great game of Shipwreck and relay races between all the schools on Wednesday at Doherty Junior High School gym. Jamie Grieco flew to get West the win in one relay race. Mike Costello and Beth Cummins sure can crab walk. The day ended with pizza.

Max the dog and Dominique the rabbit, compliments of Loni Johnson and Amy Wilkins, visted on Thursday for the pet show. Approximately 10 kids played a good game of football. Tissue paper flowers were made. Allison and Julie McClearn made pretty ones. Friday was Hampton Beach. Different games, including whiffle ball, frisbee and football, were played throughout the day.

Shaw-Hee/Shaw-Nee: The Shee-Hees welcomed Elinor McCandless, Michael Petrillo, Jeffrey Wessler, Adam Wish, Gregory Hartwell, Craig Roberts, Wallace Rucki, Alexandra and Whitney Smith. Newcomers in the Shaw-Nee group included Debbie Lee O'Connell, Laurie Ann O'Connell, Erin Perry, Josua Reef, Ryan Rucki, Tina Jette and Joey Cellamere. The week started with a false fire alarm. Everyone went outside quickly and got to see the fire trucks and firemen. We made pom-pom art, colored and played follow the leader and duck-duck goose. Tuesday was a sunny day for playing in the sprinklers. Everyone made clothespin butterflies and played red light-green light in the gym. We tried to make ice cream, but the freezer didn't freeze so we ate store-bought ice cream instead. The rain returned on Wednesday. Everyone brought socks to make sock puppets and played games in the gym. The Shaw-Nees played Indian Chief; Dom Palumbo, Iaia Houghton and Laurie O'Connell all got to be the chief. Easter in July was the order of the day on Thursday, but rain dampened the treasure hunt. Corey Hayes and Meghan Licata really enjoyed coloring paper eggs and bunny faces. Fingerprinting and a special movie finished the day. The results from last Friday's Shaw-Nee obstacle course are: Jeff Marshall completed the course in 22 seconds, Michael Rossetti and Michelle Johnston finished in 23 seconds and Mark Baggeroer finished in 24 seconds.

Ha-Kow-Wee: Some of the participants at Water Country were Eli and Josh Wilkie, Andrew Sempere, Shaun Flynn, Kris Rolfes, Thomas Meagher, Brian and Rachel Tasker, Jen and Steph Buck, Christie Cunningham, Jason and Leanne Shaw, K.C. Costello, Lindsey Pearson, Robin and Jeff Hall, Andy and Matt Gilmore, Dan Martineau, Philip DiBlasi, Matt Donohue, Jeff Irvine, Kirsten Kozat, Dan Minkinen and Bernie Vajda. Tuesday salt and flower figures dominated the day. Michele Leary, John Lougee, Jesse and Ryan Whitworth, Stephanie Ciampa and Matt Burrill were resident artists. Wonderball, Indian chief and kickball were some of the activities enjoyed by all. The Hampton Beach trip was postponed on Wednesday and all playgrounds went to Doherty Junior High School for games and relay races. Jason Shaw, Christie Cunningham, Philip DiBlasi and Sarah Joselyn were outstanding participants. Thursday began as another rainy day and string bracelets were the opening event. As the skies began to clear, an enormous game of dodge ball was played. Then pizzas were enjoyed by all. Ha-Kow-Wee joined the other playgrounds at Hampton Beach on Friday.

Indonesia Lecture Held At Inn

Why would a graceful and historic inn send dozens of people a small, shrunken head?

It was part of an invitation to area media and travel representatives for a lecture in June about Indonesia and its customs, including the intriguing but archaic ritual of headhunting. The plastic head was in a small, grey box, which on the outside said "You're invited to a lecture that will be over some people's heads."

The speaker was Marina Roseman, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Tufts University and an expert on Indonesian rites and rituals. She spent a year in the Central Java region of Indonesia, a country comprising dozens of islands north of Australia.

Guests heard first-hand accounts of Roseman's adventures in this remote archipelago, including her life among the natives. She also displayed a variety of native textiles, played a selection of native folk music and conducted a demonstration of dancing shadow puppets.

When a thunderstorm hit and the inn lost power, Roseman continued with her discussion. The darkness and frequent lightning flashes added an appropriately mysterious dimension to the proceedings. Exotic Indonesian hors d'oeuvres were prepared by the inn's chefs, who are known for their authentic Indonesian culinary event, Rijsttafel, prepared every Sunday in the inn's restaurant.

The Andover Inn on Route 28 (on the Phillips Andover Academy campus) is open daily for lunch and dinner.

Produce

The recent heat-wave has helped many locally grown products hit the market on schedule. Zucchini, lettuce, Swiss chard, cabbage, carrots, celery, endive, escarole, greens, peppers and beets are examples of the fresh vegetables available.

According to Jeff Cole of Silvermine Farm in Sutton, "Summer squash is about a week late due to the cold spring."

"The corn crop is looking pretty good and we should begin picking this week," Warren Gove, a Leominster farmer, said.

According to Steve Mudgett of Deershorn Farm in Lancaster, "Tomatoes are about one week behind, but are looking very good."

King's Subs

THEY DELIVER! Not only do they deliver pizzas, but also subs, seafood, pastas and homemade meat pies. This is truly good news for the Andover area. The students at Philips's Academy and Merrimack College are already frequently using this service. They will deliver anything on the menu after 2:00 p.m. daily.

As of June, King's Subs has been under new management. Owners Steve and George Haginicola, assisted by their mother, Niki, have maintained the extensive menu and added some new items. They offer forty different subs and thirteen pizza choices. Spaghetti, seafood plates, meat pies, hamburgers, salads and souvlaki round out the menu. All items are available for take-out. The food is homemade daily on the premises.

King's Subs is offering a pizza special: buy any three pizzas and get one small plain pizza free.

They are open seven days a week from 11:00 to 9:30 and on Thursdays and Fridays until 10:00. King's Subs is located at 11 Bartlett Street, just one block off North Main Street (Route 28) between Barnard Street and Chestnut Street, in Andover. To call ahead for faster service, call 470-1850. VERIFYING THE PLUSES

Today's home buyers know how costly it can be to heat or cool a poorly insulated property, or replace a faltering stove or refrigerator. Your home can appear extra appealing if it has recently been outfitted with some special energy-saving appliance, or if your fuel or electricity bills are unusually low.

Sure, you can tell your Realtor about some salient pluses, additions, alterations or improvements but there will always be the skeptics. Here's a hint that may be valid in your situation.

Put together any proof you have of how economical owning your house can be - a recent receipt for the new hot water heater, say, or last July's low electricity bill. Leave the papers out on the coffee table, or on a sideboard. If the prospect notices them and asks what they are, your agent can say, "Proof that you won't have to spend extra cash to live in comfort in this house." Or the agent can refer to them if the prospect asks the kind of question that such documents can answer.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pynchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Margot Turano, G.R.I.
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

FINDING A GOOD STRUCTURAL INSPECTOR

Because houses are complicated, structural inspection contingencies are becoming quite commonplace in purchase agreements. These clauses allow you a period of time, usually a week, to have an expert go over the home - the structure, plumbing, wiring, roof, and appliances - to give you a good idea of what you're getting into.

How do you find the right inspector? Look for an expert on pre-purchase home inspections, not simply a renovation contractor or a friend who can tell copper from galvanized pipes. In most cities, there are specialists, and you can obtain a list of them from a Realtor in your area. Ask friends who recently purchased homes for recommendations. Most inspectors have some background in building or engineering, then they obtain additional training in issues relating specifically to residences. Call several companies, and ask each one about the background and training of its staff as well as the rates they charge.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate. Come by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or call us at 685-5500.

Apple Hill offers suites of 1,250 s.f. or more on four stories—and architectural distinction that's rare this side of downtown Boston.

The Key to Results in Real Estate

Day Care Center Proposal To Be Heard By Zoning Board

A total of nine petitions will be heard by the Zoning Board of Appeals tonight at their monthly meeting in the School Committee room in Town Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Of the nine, the most prominent petition concerns the New England Business Center, whose developers want to raise a child care center in the West Andover business complex.

The builders, known as the National Development Associates, intend the center to care for children of employees working in the business complex, but have also made it clear that town residents would be welcome to place their youngsters in the program.

National is proposing an approximately 5,000 square foot building to house the children. If approved, the firm would lease to Bright Horizons Children's Centers of Cambridge, which would operate the child care facility.

Infant, toddler and pre-school care would be provided for approximately 72 children.

In their petition, National said, "From a social point of view, the creation of a day care facility in this part of Andover will have a positive impact by providing high quality child care to both businesses and residents. Discussions with the Town Planner and a survey conducted by the town support the need for quality day care within the Town of Andover."

The Planning Board, when they heard National's presentation last week, was more inclined to question the environmental aspects of the project. Chief among their concerns was the proximity of the building to nearby wetlands.

Comments from the planners will be heard at the ZBA meeting tonight.

Also before the ZBA will be representatives of the Marriott Corp., which is trying to ease sign restrictions in the zoning bylaws.

The hotel would like to erect a more prominent sign to direct visitors towards the business. Currently, Marriott makes do with a small, eye-level sign.

Their proposal has the backing of the town planning department.

The ZBA will also hear a petition that would allow a Domino's Pizza fast food outlet next to the old bowling alley downtown.

Other petitions before the ZBA include petitions from:

- John Dumont for a variance to allow a constructor's yard in a single residence district off Lowell Junction Road.

- Koala Andover Associates to permit changing their I-93 sign from "Koala Inns" to "Days Hotel."

- Frederick Jr. and Eileen Kallanen to allow the conversion of a building on 9 Chestnut Street to three apartments and the construction of a four-apartment addition.

- Darlene and Ronald Wallis who will ask the ZBA for permission to keep an existing deck in violation of setback requirements at 30 Linwood Street.

- David and Pamela Bartlett of 11 Lillian Terrace who are asking for the same variance as the Wallis' and are described in a ZBA notice as a "party aggrieved by the decision of the Building Inspector not issuing a permit for a deck which extends into the front yard setback."

• Kenneth and Anita Adams, who are looking to do landscaping work, and want to deed a 15-foot portion of their land to a neighbor to facilitate the landscaping. The deed would create a non-conforming lot for which the Adams' are asking a variance.
